Anticus International Corp. Announces that it has completed the acquisition of a worldwide license

Anticus Corporation (Anticus) a public traded company on the OTC: BB exchange (trading symbol: ATCI. OB), is pleased, to announce that it has signed an agreement for the acquisition of the worldwide exclusive license to the microbiological process known as "Prolactis".

This process will allow Anticus to assist cheese processors, as well as beer and soft drink manufacturers, in transforming by products, waste and overdue goods into a valuable, sellable yeast which is typically used in the production of animal feed.

The process provides, through the use of a bioreactor, for the bioconversion of lactose and other sugar, into high proteins biomass, literally transforming waste and by products into water and yeast to be used in animal feed.

The process has been developed by Jacques Goulet, Ph.D., agr., professor at Laval University in Quebec City, Quebec, Michel Deblois, engineer, and Lucien Pomerleau, M.Sc., agr. Worldwide patents are pending.

President Gilles Varin stated I am pleased to be working with Jacques Goulet, phd, Michel Deblois, Eng as well as Lucien Pomerleau, Msc agr to further develop and commercialize this process. I strongly believe that the vast experience acquired in the microbiological production of yeast as well as the combination of their skills will be valuable assets moving forward on this opportunity.

The process has been implemented in a recycling plant in Longueuil Quebec, which has been expanded to increase its capacity and is expected to resume production soon.
